

Duke of Edinburgh's Bronze Award 2009

Practice Expedition Booklet

Name:

Dates of Venture:

Group Members:

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award
TAKE THE CHALLENGE

2009

When completing an expedition it is important that you have a clearly defined aim before you set out. This can be anything that makes your walk purposeful and meaningful. You should complete a small number of tasks whilst on your walk in order to achieve this aim.

In your groups consider what your aim will be whilst on your walk.

Group Aim:

Method of Achieving Your Aim:

You may now use the remaining pages in this booklet to complete your aim and be able to present this information to your supervisor. You should do this at the campsite (at the end of your first days walk) and when you have completed your expedition.

Site 5: _____

Grid Reference: _____

Site 4: _____

Grid Reference: _____

Site 1: _____

Grid Reference: _____

Site 2: _____

Grid Reference: _____

Site 3: _____

Grid Reference: _____